New for 2025! We are seeking proposals with content that can be applied to shelters and programs of all sizes to create a track called “Big Ideas for both Big and Small Shelters”. These would be innovative ideas and programs with implementation that is scalable in both size and cost.

SPEAKERS

Presenters may range from industry leaders to those on the front lines, sharing their first hand experience. To be considered as a speaker, your program must be educational in nature. Your material should be original; otherwise, sources must be referenced. To keep the conference accessible and costs low for all of our participants, Texas Unites does not pay speaking fees or travel expenses for speakers. If selected as a conference speaker, you will gain visibility in the industry and contribute to the advancement of our profession. Speakers are provided a complimentary conference registration that includes several meals and entry to workshops and special events.
